It's long past time to Raise the Minimum Wage.

There are 30 states that pay higher than the federal minimum wage of $7.25 per hour. Every state that borders PA has a higher minimum wage. Low-wage workers in NY, NJ, and MD earn over $2,000 more per year than in PA. The last minimum wage increase in PA was in 2009, and it has remained the same for 16 years even as the cost of necessities has increased.

A low minimum wage suppresses the wages of nearly one million other PA workers. If the minimum wage is raised to $15 per hour by 2026, more than 15% of PA workers — 866,000 — will see their incomes grow.

A minimum wage of $15 per hour would put money in the pockets of working families and would also reduce safety net expenditures. Raising the minimum wage boosts the overall economy and saves tax dollars.
